
from the office of the Baron of Buittle

On behalf of the Barony of Buittle, the 32nd Baron, James de Balliol-Cavendish of Buittle, would like to express the Barony's appreciation for the amity shown by Karin Ganatschnig.
The Baron's words follow below:

My dear Karin,

It was a pleasure to become acquainted with you in Vienna, through our mutual involvement in philanthropic endeavours. Since then I have become familiar with your work as an artist. Your use of colour, and your modern interpretations of the classical human form are very impressive, and I wish you every success in your artistic endeavours on the international stage.

The Barony of Buittle has, as part of its mission, the promotion and support of the Arts, and we will follow your career with interest. I look forward to the next time we meet in person to collaborate on humanitarian efforts on Vienna.

Ever,

Buittle
